

- Dork, scrape ⇒ log it
 - Filter with Reddit
 - Cleaning data
 - Excluding some sources
 - Forbes (example)
- Filter with AI the titles (questions)
 - Categorize them according a pre-collected list of keywords (take into consideration supporting data - the answers count)
 - This step is to be explored
 - Output example
 - Keyword 1
 - Title 1
 - Title 3
- The writing should start based on the reversed/discovered article/blog
 - The 10 results - aggregation
 - Title (H tags)
 - Support keywords
 - Formatted in markdown (bold)
 - Spy on the content
 - Length (word count)
 - Note to reduce it with 20%
 - Headline structure
 - Keyword Density
 - 1.3 - 2.1%
 - Images
 - Increase relative to X number in the article being analysed
 - Writing
 - Grammar check
- Post writing tactics
 - Update the article regularly
 - Example (over 60 days)
 - Intentionally increment
 - From the blog's output. Statistically extract the words that contribute to the keywords
 - Avoid the most AI-ish words
 - Find homonyms and synonyms of the words most repetitive

- Competitor Analysis Layer
 - Do competition research and get there sitemaps using curl commands and bash
- Writing layer
 - Topical map authority
 - Semantic SEO
 - Clusters
 - Levels
 - 0
 - 1
 - 2
 - Avoid Cannibalisation
 - Link each level to his pillar post parents levels